Asmlde 2017 30-Aug-2020 11:20 The Olympus O-MD10 is the successor to the OM-D E-M1, featuring the same Micro Four Thirds (4/3) size sensor, and is often confused with the larger Micro Four Thirds XZ-2, which is actually the follow-up to the E-M5. The goal was to create a more robust and modern camera than its predecessor. The base model comes with the same 18-105mm kit lens, but the others are available in other configurations. The O-MD10 features a CMOS image sensor with 20.2 megapixels, which is smaller than the 19.2 megapixels in the E-M1. The O-MD10 has the same sensor size of 4/3 as the previous generation O-MZR and O-M1 cameras. Support for the XQD memory card format is only available with the OM-D E-M10. The O-MD10 can be used on Sony SLT-a65 and a7R III cameras, with an APS-C sized sensor, while the E-M10 can be used on APS-C and full frame cameras with sensors between 4/3 and 1.5 times larger. The O-MD10 does not have an electronic shutter. This is made possible by the ultrasonic sensor on the front of the camera. O-MD10 has a built-in flash for low light situations, and a pop-up flash. A hot shoe is also available to support a flashgun. An autofocus module (DDAF) is used for continuous autofocus. The module is configurable with phase-detect and contrast-detect AF-points. The aperture is manually controllable, from f3.6 to f11, while the exposure is controlled with an exposure meter. The video format of the O-MD10 is UHD (3840 x 2160), with a fixed framerate of 60 fps. The movie quality is enhanced with various auto-processing features, including Clear Image and Ambrosia video filters. Video is recorded in a range of 10 bit and 30 bit formats, with an internal frame size of 13.5M (1920x1080), 8.15M (1920x1080), or 3.45M (1920x1080), and a movie length of approximately 20 minutes. names that appear more than once in a list and sum them I have a list like this: A B C A B C A B I want a function that will return 4. I am trying to do this via a loop:

Function count(A As String)
    As Long Dim nameList() As String nameList = Split(A, "A") count =
    UBound(nameList) - LBound(nameList)
    + 1 End Function

Is there a better way to do this that avoids using a loop? With a loop I am using about 40,000 names, so looping through them is very time-consuming.

A: You can use Set, Union, Intersect, Count and Subtract to obtain the desired result in one function call -

```
Function countRepeatedNames(sList As String)
    As Long Dim dArray As Variant Dim
    ICount As Long Dim sNewV As String sNewV = "" dArray = Split(sList, "A")
    For ICount = LBound(dArray) To
```

UBound(dArray) If dArray(1Count) = sNewV Then If sNewV "" Then sNewV =
sNewV & ", " End If 6d1f23a050
