KEYMACRO is an application that allows you to use a simple key to unlock items in Windows 8. Unlike in previous versions of the operating system, the users have a number of difficulty levels that they can choose from when trying to use the software. After opening KEYMACRO you will see a picture of the key that you are supposed to use to unlock the program, as well as three information windows at the bottom of the screen. First, there is the key selection window. Once you select a key you want to use, it will appear in the top right corner of the screen. Second, you will see the information window, which displays some information regarding the keys you have selected. You can choose a key's difficulty by clicking on its value and an additional window will appear to help you. You can determine how strong the key you have chosen is by clicking on the strength value, and selecting it again will restore the strength to the one you chose previously. The third information window is the problem window. Once you have selected a key, you will have to put it to the test by clicking on the activation button. If the item is locked, you will have to select a new key. Once you have successfully used the key to open the program, you will have to log in again. Once you log in, you will be able to use the application as before. Safeguard your files Recent versions of Windows have added an easy to use file-backed encrypting and decrypting software called FileCipher. This program helps you protect your data from theft or loss by encrypting it and rendering it unreadable without a password. FileCipher works with several file types, but the Windows versions of the software come in two versions, a Full version that features a number of useful features and an Evaluation version, which allows you to see all the features but does not include any of the additional features. Those using Windows 10 should stick to the Full version as it includes features that Windows 8 does not have, but it is also more expensive. With both versions, you are able to protect files by encrypting them with a password that you choose, and can be stored in the program's password box, accessible from the main FileCipher window. Click on the 'Encrypt' button to encrypt a file, and on the 'Decrypt' button to decrypt it. You can choose the password with which you want to encrypt a file, as 2edc1e01e8
